Walt Disney hails COLOR TV as "One of the greatest of all innovations in entertainment!"

"It seems like yesterday (but it was a good forty years ago) that I first stepped into the entertainment world. Who ever dreamed then of the miracle of Color Television?

"In those days, we didn't even have color cartoons—just giving life to a static comic strip character was magic enough. And as for sound—well, we had the theater organist. Sometimes he even played the right tune at the right time.

"Now, we have high-fidelity sound and high-fidelity color, too. Combined on our home TV screens, Color TV adds up to one of the greatest of all innovations in entertainment.

"Color adds a fascinating new dimension to our home television programs. Color can stress the tension and suspense of an adventure story. Color adds so much to the enjoyment of famous classics, as, for example, in our Hans Brinker production. And color is, of course, a 'must' in stories where the songs and dances of people from other lands take a prominent role.

"Color, in other words, adds so much to so many fine programs that I'm happy we're part of it. Our new TV series, 'The Wonderful World of Color,' is on NBC-TV, Sunday nights. I hope you'll be watching it—in color, of course!"

Read what owners say of their new RCA VICTOR COLOR TV...

Mrs. Nathan Kopol, Dallas, Tex.
Color programs are out of this world. Being able to see the costumes and gowns and sets in color makes you realize how much color adds.

Mr. Frank P. Young, Philadelphia, Pa.
Watching Color TV is exciting because you feel you are right there on the scene. Everyone I know prefers Color TV shows to black-and-white.

Mrs. Bertha Otto, Milwaukee, Wis.
Visitors are speechless when they see the true colors we get on our set. They’re so real, people and scenery seem to come right into our room.

...and what leading TV critics say...

Terrence O’Flaherty, San Francisco Chronicle
No gadget in my house has given me as much pleasure as my color TV. My neighbors feel the same. Color TV is a delight—absolute magic.

Robert S. Johnson, Memphis Press-Scimitar
The only reason I can think of why everyone doesn’t already have Color TV is that they just don’t know what they’re missing.

Jack O’Brien, New York Journal American
Color television is an amazing miracle. It is beautiful: there is no other word for it. It adds so much to your enjoyment of television.
